

Blood Bank to Offer Life-giving Dividends

College students will have an opportunity to participate in the newly organized Nodaway county blood bank program, Mrs. E. D. Imes, NWMSC graduate student and county chairman, announced this week.

Dr. E. K. DeVore is vice-chairman of the central committee which is planning the blood Savings Club designed to help college students and residents of the county. The college's participation in the program has been endorsed by the administration and many leading organizations on campus. Also the program has been endorsed by the association of county physicians and most of the county's service clubs.

An interesting side light to this new program is the fact that Delta Nu chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon has been providing an emergency supply of blood for St. Francis Hospital as one of its fraternity projects.

"College students may participate on a quota basis," Mrs. Imes explained.

Stressing the point that once the plan materializes, all full-time students will be assured of blood as needed without having to pay for the blood itself, the county chairman added, "Faculty and other staff members, however, may participate in the program on the same basis as other residents in the county."

An emergency supply of the more common types of blood will be kept at St. Francis Hospital for all county residents. For those not members of the club, the blood may be used on a replacement basis. Rarer types of blood will be rushed here on demand from Kansas City.

Lee Schneider Heads NEMC Division Panel

Lee T. Schneider, instrumental music instructor at Horace Mann, is in Colorado Springs this week end where he is participating in a seven-state divisional meeting of the Music Educators' National Conference.

Mr. Schneider will be the presiding chairman for a panel which will discuss "The Purposes of the Elementary Instrumental Music Program."

Don Price, Cameron, will be a member of the panel. Mr. Schneider is also the author of a column, "Band and" in the January-February issue of the Missouri School Music magazine.

A bleed-in for college students will be held Apr. 11 at the Wesley Foundation Center. Mrs. Imes has advised that, in the meantime, youths under 21 who wish to give blood should get parental consent slips completed and turned in.

Cards for signing up for the bleed-in may be secured in the residence halls and in the den.

Robert Sunkel Listed In 'Art Who's Who'

Robert Sunkel, acting chairman of the NWMSC Department of Art since 1963, was recently listed in "Who's Who in American Art."

The artist-educator, who

does both painting and sculpting, is particularly interested in art history. He has been instrumental in bringing traveling art exhibits to galleries in the Olive DeLuce Fine Arts Building. Mr. Sunkel also helped plan the organization of the Department of Art in the building.

He is chairman of the Visual Arts Division of the newly organized Nodaway Arts Council.

Revamped Constitution Presented to Students

NWMSC students will vote to accept or reject a revised constitution for the Student Government Association from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. Thursday in Col-den Hall lounge.

This constitution, if it is accepted, must be approved by a majority of the students who vote, and one-third of the total student body must vote. Many significant changes, including representation, elections, and enlargement of the total membership of the Senate, are set forth in this revised constitution.

Under the present constitution, the Student Senate has 16 members: a president; vice president; four each from the senior, junior, and sophomore classes; and two members from the freshman class. The revised constitution provides for 24 Student Senate members.

There would be three executive officers elected by the student body. These officers would be a president, a vice president, and a secretary-treasurer. Each of the four academic classes would have two instead of the present four representatives, and the class president would serve as one of the two senators.

Certain major campus organizations would elect representatives to compose the rest of the Senate. The Associated Women Students would elect one representative to the Senate. The women's residence halls would elect three representatives, none of whom could be members of social sororities or fraternities. The men's residence halls would also elect three representatives, none of whom could be members of a social fraternity.

The social sororities and fraternities would be represented respectively by three members from the sororities affiliated with the Panhellenic Council, and three members from the fraternities affiliated with the Interfraternity Council.

The revised constitution provides that any recognized college organization may petition for representation on the Senate, but approval of a new group to representation requires a three-fourths vote of the Student Senate.

Under the new constitution, there would be one election annually for student senators and class officers, not held before April 15 and not after May 1. The exact date would be de-

Junior Students Selected As Community Ambassadors

JoAnn Montgomery, St. Joseph, and Robert P. Foster III, Maryville, were chosen last week to represent Northwest Missouri State College in this year's Community Ambassador program.

Miss Montgomery, a home economics major, will be the ambassador to Switzerland. Her alternate is Alan Pruitt a junior, majoring in social science. Miss Montgomery, also a junior, has been active in various campus organizations and activities. She is a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha, Panhellenic Council, and is head counselor of Perrin Hall. She was also chairman of the Homecoming variety show.

Miss Montgomery has worked as a dental assistant during the past few summers. "One of my main goals is to gain a personal understanding of foreign peoples and to carry a favorable picture of our nation to Europe," stated Miss Montgomery.

According to Miss Karen Licklider, dean of women, the Community Ambassador committee members (CAC) were impressed by "JoAnn's poise and warmth, and the fact that she showed a great deal of knowledge concerning the Experiment in International Living and the country she is to visit."

Foster, also a junior, majoring in psychology and sociology, is active in several NWMSC organizations. He is secretary of Blue Key, vice president of Tau Kappa Epsilon, member of the Inter-Fraternity Council, and a committee chairman of the Union Board.

Dr. Crispino Writes Article for Magazine

Dr. Frank Crispino, assistant professor of education, has had an article accepted for publication in "School and Community" magazine.

Entitled "Identification and Measurement of Teaching Readiness," the article is a report on the author's research in which he attempted to work out a measure that will predict how successful a teacher will be. It consists of items that help explore the prospective instructor's knowledge of learners as well as his knowledge of attitudes and perception in structural learning situations.

Based on Dr. Crispino's study and experiment, 63 items are in the measurement.

Robert Foster III

Foster, whose alternate is Beverly Beeks, a sophomore, majoring in English and journalism, will be the representative to Israel. Being in a foreign country will be nothing new for him as he has done extensive traveling abroad.

Dog Patch Formal Imaxes Week Hawkins Fun

By Roger Glancy

All Abner and associates did come alive last week, it was the time for all gay characters to come alive.

Upsetting the status quo, Sadie Hawkins again entered in public affairs to do her annual trickery, for which the week was named.

Tuesday, some of Sadie's sisters were after those frisky fellows belonging to the Abner gang. The gang was trapped in the Den and was tempted with the possibilities of winning sodas. Since that didn't have all the fellows captured, the gals planned a new tactic and Wednesday noon joined forces. Their methods were pleasant and peaceful, and unknowingly the girls made a date with every fellow in sight. They invited the fellows to a special dance that was held Friday night in Sadie's honor.

Doing their best to find an empty barn, they had to settle for the Blue Room in the student Union at NWMSC, and not knowing any better, turned into a barn.

Bales of hay were used for part of the decor. The doxy affair was enlivened by the sounds of the Benzene Ring Band. "Dog Patch" did really jump to the ringing band, especially during the three-legged and sack relays.

Since a Sadie Hawkins dance is actually the spring formal of Dog Patch, costumes took the place of the gown and tux. Cited for attending in the best costumes were Sharon Nash and Denny Reed, judged A-1 by Mr. and Mrs. James Saucerman.

"We happened to notice that the roof didn't come down, and we have the sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hagan, to thank for that," commented one guest.

Actually, the week of activities was again pulled from the comic strips, re-enacted, and sponsored by AWS and girls from various sororities.

A sincere thanks goes to Mary Potter, who was the over-all committee chairman coordinating a much needed change of pace last week on campus.

The Maryville High School stage band provided the music for the affair which was AKL's first formal dance.

Both men are student directors of the Northwest Missouri State College Band and have studied music at NWMSC for four years.

Roberts recently completed his student teaching duties at Park Hill High School at Parkville, and Benton will do his student teaching the second eight week period of this semester at Cameron.

Stars in Many Plays, Musical Productions To Lead Cast in Presentation of 'Carousel'

Lead roles in the cast for "Carousel," NWMSC's largest stage production of the year, will be filled by two active, talented sophomores, Wendee Beam and Mike Miller.

The center of action is focused on Mike Miller from Maryville in the role of Billy Bigelow, a braggart merry-go-round barker who somehow finds the meaning of love. Miller has had much experience in both speech and music activities. He was a member of band, choir, and many vocal and instrumental ensembles during his four years of high school.

At music contests Miller won "I's" for his solos. Outside of school he sang in a folk singing trio. Miller had previous experience with musicals when he combined his acting and singing abilities for the lead in "Luke Song."

For his acting in various plays such as "Arsenic and Old Lace," "The Mouse That Roared," and several one-acts, as well as for his leadership in drama club and Thespians, Miller was awarded his alma mater's Best Actor award. He also participated in oratory contests and carried his speaking talents on to the Wesley Foundation Players, which he serves as fine arts chairman.

Last fall Miller directed, wrote, and acted in the Homecoming skit for Phi Sigma Epsilon, which he serves as corresponding secretary. He also is a member of the Fine Arts committee on the Union Board.

Miller is now majoring in music education and participates in madrigal, chorus, Tower Choir, marching and concert band, jazz group, Undergrads, MENC, and the Wesley Foundation's "Circuit Riders," a folk singing group.

Miss Beam, Farragut, Iowa, plays opposite Miller, as his gentle and trusting wife, Julie. Miss Beam also has been active in high school and college activities.

In high school her vocal solos won her "I" ratings at contests where she also entered piano solo events and accompanied other musicians. She participated in high school band, ensembles, choir, and the 4-H chorus, continuing her activity in these areas after enrolling in college, where she has been a member of the college band, Tower Choir, Undergrads, madrigal, and MENC. She has done much work in speech contests, rating three "I's" and four "I's."

Miss Beam also had lead roles in two class plays and won the outstanding Thespian award. Miss Beam is an elementary and secondary vocal music major at NWMSC, where she is scholarship chairman of Sigma Sigma Sigma.

These actors, along with the other leading performers who will be featured in next week's paper, will be spending long hours almost every evening rehearsing, memorizing, and singing in preparation for production week.

On Death

Death is the one idea that has no history. Human experience has affected every world concept, not in just the exact sciences or in mathematics, but in every field. Justice, Love, State, World, even Man, even Life, have something fundamental to be said about them that was not (and could not have been) said of old. Only death stands unmoved by man's relentless compulsion to know.

We do not know what to say about death because we do not know what to think about it, and we do not know what to think about it because we do not know what it is. When we try to discuss death, we end up discussing life. One explanation is the negation of the idea of life. There are other ideas such as Ignorance or Evil whose negations appear to stand to their opposites as Death stands to Life; but their appearances are deceptive. It is impossible to define life without death, but we cannot even define death. The most important of all the facts of life, and we cannot even discuss it.

Who's afraid of death, or should I say, who isn't afraid of death? Life has become a habit. The longer we practice it, the tighter it binds us. Modern, mental man pays more attention to death than the physical man of yesterday. He thinks about it, tries to disguise it, and prolongs it. But death is nearly always indelicate and undignified. Its ugliness mocks every beauty. The physical pain of dying has been minimized but to date we have not had a treatise entitled "Dying Can Be Fun."

The ultimate terror of death means that I shall be no more; not you, or he, or they, but I. Your death, his, and theirs I can bear, but mine I cannot. I love others, but I can live without them — only not without myself. Before me was only report and record; the same will be after me. While I am, reality is. The world began when I was born. It ends when I die.

Death is unbearable, but you will bear it.

Since we all must die some time, and we know we will, why shouldn't we try to figure out how best to do it? The easiest way, naturally, is to believe that it isn't going to happen; the next easiest is to steel; easiest of all, to be assured that we'll be all right when it's over with. Why shouldn't the tried and true recipe for old age be tried for dying? The fewer hours you have left, the fewer you have to be idle. No man finishes his work. There is always something left undone. At least make death run to catch you.

Dying is self-taught. Those who have learned the Secret are not available for teaching. There are those in life who have never done anything for themselves, but die they must. Dying cuts us down to size, maybe it's the best thing that could happen to us. One thing is certain: We will find out.

Scholarship Curtain Rises

Dramatics Fraternity Sets Up Scholarship Plan

Alpha Psi Omega, active national honorary dramatics fraternity currently is being acclaimed because it has set up its own scholarship fund, thought to be a first for a group of this kind on the NWMSC campus.

The fraternity, which has chapters at such outstanding schools as the University of Pittsburg, the University of Texas, and the University of Alabama, has been in existence at NWMSC for 20 years.

This year the Kappa Sigma Cast will make scholarships available to students majoring in play production. Certain requirements will have to be fulfilled, however, before a student may obtain the services of the fund.

As in past years, the Cast will continue to produce a play, with the proceeds designated for placement in the scholarship fund. This year's offering, which will be presented May 3-5, is a delightful comedy by James Thurber and Elliott Nugent entitled, "The Male Animal."

This semester's pledges for Alpha Psi Omega are Mary

Lee Crockett, Jerry Eisenhower, John Hoffman, Gail Bullis, Ann Nielsen, Linda Brinton, Marcia Hensleigh, Richard Heinz, Phyllis Zwank, and Carole Sinclair.

Newly elected officers for the fraternity are Cheryl Reineke, president; Dan McLaughlin, vice president; Eddie Joe Maltzberger, treasurer, and Harold Webb, secretary.

Area Colleges

Plan Buildings, Experiment, Help Care, Compare Grades

Central Missouri State College is scheduled to receive state grants and loans totaling $3,502,884 for a new academic building and two new dormitories. The buildings are to be completed by the fall of 1968.

With the help of a drama student, a faculty member at Southwest Missouri State College performed a psychology experiment to test emotional reactions under stress. In the pseudo act the student shot the professor with a blank gun in a quarrel over bad grades.

At Southeast Missouri State the Young Republicans sponsored a fund drive for CARE, international relief crusade.

Stephens College, Columbia, will offer a new teacher certification program this semester, allowing BA and BFA graduates to obtain teacher certification on elementary and secondary levels.

Stephens College, Columbia, from June 5 - July 29, will offer its sixth summer school business session for high school students. Classes are offered for improving typing, shorthand, and telephoning skills, and increasing IBM programming proficiency.

Southeast Missouri State College classifies college grades each semester by college residence halls, social organizations, and all-men's and all-women's averages.

Radio Club to Meet

An organizational meeting of the collegiate amateur Radio Club will be held at 8 p. m. Monday in the KDLX Radio Station, located at the east end of the power plant.

All students interested in amateur radio operation are urged to attend this meeting. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Maryville Community to Send Its Own International Visitor

Some fortunate Maryvillian will be sent to Mexico, Costa Rica, or Guatemala this summer under the Experiment in International Living program.

The person chosen will be given the title of Maryville Community Ambassador, serving as the city's contribution to international understanding. Several people associated with NWMSC have worked with the committees that are planning the program in Maryville.

Names of four Maryvillian youths and their credentials have been submitted to headquarters for the Ambassador program, Putney, Vt. Final selection will be made there.

In order to be eligible for the Community Ambassador post, a person must be a Maryvillian between the ages of 18 and 30 who will be in Maryville for one year after his return to this country. The latter requirement assures the availability of the person in such matters as speeches or talks to clubs, groups, and churches.

Also, the person must have completed at least two years of high school Spanish or be willing to take part in an intensive language study during the month of June at Putney.

The Maryville Ambassador and nine other Experimenters will be sent to the same area where they will live with different families for one month. Then they will take a tour of the country for another three weeks.

A Student Affairs Board would be created by the revised constitution. It would be composed of the chairman and an assistant chairman appointed by the president of the Student Senate and approved by a majority vote of the Senate and a group of students not to exceed six selected by the chairman and approved by majority vote of the Student Senate.

These six people would not be Senate members but would be given an opportunity to participate in Senate work. The board would aid in the selection of "Who's Who" award recipients, in the promotion of school spirit, in the review of constitutions of new organizations, and in the promotion of events of general campus interest.

Another major proposed change is found in the method of ratification of amendments. Under the present constitution, the laws may be amended by a majority of the ballots cast providing one-third of the entire student body votes on the amendments.

The revised constitution proposes: (a) if one-third or less of the members of the student body vote, a two-thirds affirmative vote is required on that issue; (b) if the percentage of the votes cast is more than one-third and less than one-half, it shall require a percentage between that per cent voting and 100 per cent; (c) a vote of one-half or more of the student body requires a plurality vote of approval.

Other changes include the elimination of the Union Board's constitution from the Student Government Association's constitution. The new constitution merely states that there is a Union Board and that its constitution shall not be a conflict with the Student Government Association's constitution.

The constitution revision committee includes chairman Fred Lazear, Cheri Jordan, Ed Lambright, and Jan Gray.

Alpha Phi Helps Clean Campus

Campus clean-up became a reality for actives and pledges of Alpha Phi Omega Saturday morning.

With the aid of their adviser, Robert Seipel, superintendent of buildings and grounds, the fraternity combed the campus from the entrance to Phillips Hall, picking up a varied assortment of debris along the way.

The fraternity hopes this will initiate a responsible awareness for everyone on campus to think twice before throwing gum wrappers or cold drink cups on the ground instead of in the receptacles placed conveniently around the campus.

Lecturer to Talk On Earthquakes, Geology Program

Arrangements have been completed for Dr. John S. Sumner, professor of geophysics, University of Arizona, to be a guest lecturer on campus Mar. 21, 22.

An open lecture on "Earthquakes" will be given at 4 p. m. Mar. 21 in Room 207, Administration Building. On the ensuing day, Dr. Sumner will address geology classes and will consult with the physical science staff at NWMSC on the geology program and plans for the geology facilities in the new Science Building.

The guest lecturer holds degrees in geology and physics, University of Minnesota, and a PhD in geophysics, University of Wisconsin. He was a fighter pilot in World War II and was on active duty as a major in the Korean conflict. He has worked on geophysical exploration projects in different regions.

An active member of the Society of Exploration Geophysicists and other scientific groups, Dr. Sumner is engaged in several areas of geophysical research.

Arrangements for his visit on campus have been made by Theodore Weichinger, acting chairman of the Division of Science and Mathematics through the Visiting Science Program of the American Geophysical Union.

Tunes That Pay Dividends

College Men Finance Own Education

By Stephanie Reynolds

"So you want to be a rock and roll star? Go and get yourself an electric guitar," advises a popular song.

While this may be sound advice, it isn't recommended that you stop there. Four local area bands, The Benzene Ring, The New Green Giants, The Morlocks, and the Sirens, each with NWMSC members, insist on regular practice sessions. Otherwise, they have individually developed into rather unique money-making units.

The Benzene Ring, a name borrowed from a dusty chemistry background includes Ron Mitchell, lead guitar, Dee Thomas, rhythm guitar; Riley Schenk, organ; Gary Veylupek, electric bass, and Andy Peake, drums.

A true - school - year band, they organize in September and disband with the end of spring semester. They play to finance their own education and consider music the most enjoyable method of work.

A favorite pastime of the Benzene Ring is to play the flip side of a popular song to watch the audience's reaction. The band has played for many school sponsored dances and is well known at private social events and local area activities.

John Gibson, a member of the New Green Giants is the only NWMSC student in his band. The two and one-half-year-old band is well-known in this area, having played frequent engagements on campus and in neighboring towns.

A spokesman for the Giants remarked, "They use no gimmicks, nor do they pattern themselves after anyone. They rely on their own potential."

This potential has resulted in a record, "You're Gonna Lose That Girl," and the expected release of another record in the spring.

"Boo! You're Ugly," a current favorite on the Den juke box, is a novel record written by Jim Quinn, a member of The Morlocks, who also plays organ and rhythm guitar. In this band, Bob May plays drums, Kent Fancolly, bass guitar, and Gary Stilletto, lead guitar.

Each member of the group sings. All of the band members attend school at NWMSC and have been together for nearly a year. They are currently planning for the re-release of their record for national distribution.

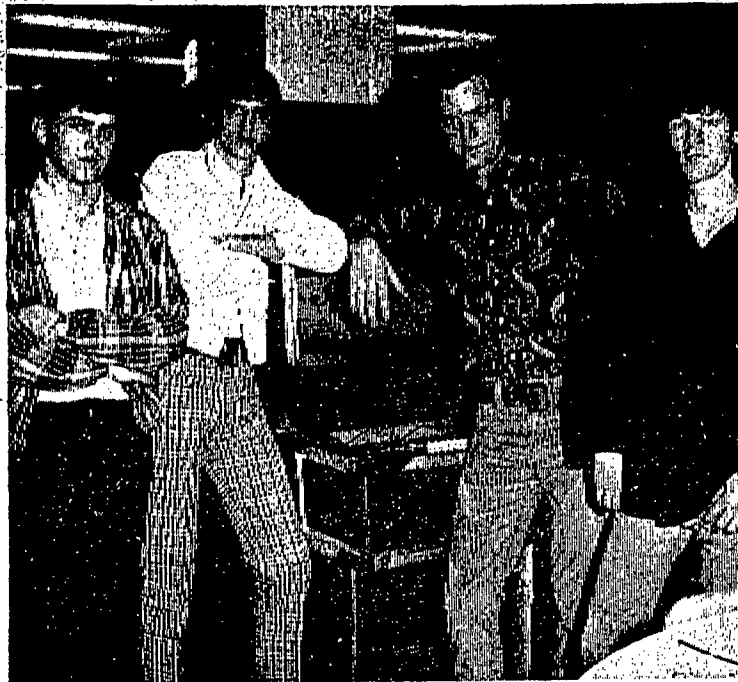

Dialogue, Mr. Wake

Discuss Hall Problems

Bruce Wake, director of men's housing, met with Dialogue Monday evening to discuss some of the problems confronted in the men's halls.

The group also discussed the counselor system in both the women's and men's halls and the possibilities of sponsoring social events such as dances or mixers for the men's and women's halls.

The group plans to meet with President Foster Monday evening.

The Morlocks intend to work together indefinitely, performing here and in surrounding states.

The newest band group to originate on the NWMSC campus is also the youngest. All of its members except one are freshmen here. These five musicians called The Sirens, have gained recognition.

Members are Lynn Wedlock, tambourine, special effects, and lights; Jim Tibbets, drums; Steve Carstenson, organ and vocal leads; Danny Gibson, bass guitar, and Jan Turnbull, lead guitar. Gibson, who joined the band in February, is in competition with his brother John of the Giants.

Some of the material the band uses is credited to Jan for lyrics and Steve for music. Their manager, Regie Turnbull, commented that The Sirens, "not a straight band, enjoy themselves on stage and will dance and ad lib as the mood suits them." For the future, their plans include recording and going on summer tour.

Who knows, perhaps some day Maryville will make the entertainment map through one of its dance bands?

College Group to See Shakespeare's 'Dream'

"Wan, sweet wall, open thy chink that I may see my love." These words from Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" will be part of the comedy for students and faculty who attend the Loretta-Hilton Repertory Theater presentation Mar. 20 in the auditorium at Missouri Western Junior College, St. Joseph.

The NWMSC English and Speech Departments are sponsoring a bus trip to St. Joseph Mar. 20 to see a matinee production of Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream," presented by a troupe from Webster College, St. Louis.

Directed by J. Robert Dietz, the play will be performed by the Loretta - Hilton Repertory Theater in the Missouri Western Junior College Auditorium, St. Joseph. This production has been acclaimed for its deftness and clarity of characterization, unusual lighting, and stage sets.

The sets were designed by Peter Sargent, member of the Theater Arts staff of the University of Wisconsin. The elaborate costumes were designed by Lewis Crickard.

Missouri Western Junior College assisted by the Missouri State Council on the Arts and the National Council on the Arts will present the Repertory Theatre in the auditorium of the Junior College. The Missouri Council has allocated $25,000 in funds and the National Arts Foundation has added $25,000 for the company to tour with Midsummer Night's Dream and Twelfth Night.

Dr. Ralph E. Fulsom, chairman of the Department of Speech, Drama, and Speech Correction, and Dr. Frank Grube, chairman of the Division of Language and Literature are in charge of arrangements for the trip to see the presentation.

Both sponsors recommend the performance highly. Dr. Fulsom has emphasized, "It is a worthwhile performance to attend. Students should go if at all possible."

Ralph Hotchkin, one of the top Northwest Missouri State College fans among Maryville businessmen, was in his usual good college booster suit when he became the first merchant to sign up for "Night on the Town" honoring NWMSC students and personnel.

A member of the sponsoring committee of the Chamber of Commerce, he then went out of town on a business trip thinking that all was well. Imagine his surprise when he returned to find that he and his assigned sponsoree, Gamma Sigma Sigma service sorority got lost in the publishers' problems. Even the Stroller and our advertising manager know not why.

Our apologies to the Hotchkins and the fine members of Gamma Sigma Sigma. All we can say is that we are glad they are gracious and understanding.

Word has it that upper classmen will integrate Hudson Hall next year. Who knows what lies ahead? The Stroller doubts that the near future holds co-educational halls.

UCCF-Wesley Group Selects New Officers

Reginald Turnbull was recently elected president of the UCCF - Wesley Fellowship.

Other officers included Alan Pruitt, vice president and state representative; Beverly Beeks, secretary; Amy Bradfield, treasurer; Betsy Bouska, Erich Winter, Terry Barnes, and Shirley Hooper, Religious Ron Huff, deputation chairman; Linda Hornaday, study-program chairman; Kathy Abersold, food chairman; Mike Miller, fine arts chairman; Shirley Hooper, worship chairman; Rose Ann Butcher, publicity chairman, and Barbetta Brown and Jim Plank, homecoming representatives.

Stuttering and stammering over a sentence he was to say, a smiling faculty member gave this excuse: "I washed my tongue this morning and I can't do a thing with it!"

Turn about was fair last week, and quite a few men took full advantage of Sadie Hawkins Week by making their escorts wait for them a little longer than they planned. One nervous coed had to pace the lobby of Phillips Hall for an hour!

Even the Head of the English Department, Dr. Frank Grube, rolled up his sleeves in order to re-fold last week's Missouriian... when the 4200 papers arrived folded incorrectly, each copy had to be unfolded and inserted by hand!

The Stroller was amused to hear that one of the "mean counselors" of Hudson Hall received five cakes for her birthday!

The Stroller's impression of all the Maryville merchants who participated in "Night on the Town" is most favorable even if he didn't get one of those special prizes because he was strolling and not in attendance at the drawing.

Messages from afar indicate that NWMSC's genial Field Service chief, Everett Brown, really learned what field service is like while acting as adviser for young business and professional men of Northwest Missouri who have been on a Rotary-sponsored tour of Asia.

Riding on an elephant in Assam rural areas must have been a novel experience for the Missouri travelers, who are expected to arrive home within the next two weeks.

Monterrey Tec

Students interested in attending the 1967 summer session at Monterrey Tec in Monterrey, Mexico, are asked to meet in Room 201 of Colden Hall at 4 p. m. Monday.

Visual Aids Slated For PTA Program

Luke L. Boone, director of IMB, and members of the Northwest Missouri Audio Visual Association will present a program on audio-visual aids Monday for the King City PTA meeting.

The program, based on a county fair approach, will consist of displays and demonstrations of audio-visual aids with particular stress being placed on their utilization in the school.

Bearcats Down William Jewell Their Second Track Meet

A good team effort" is what track coach Earl Baker had to say about last Saturday's meet against William Jewell.

The 81-19 win was the Bearcats' second victory to no defeat. The harriers took 11 events and nine seconds out of the meet. The only event at William Jewell won was the shot put.

"Hager should have a good chance to hold on to his conference championship," Coach Baker said when asked if Pete Hager is expected to continue winning ways. Hager won first place in the meet with Jewell in the 40-yard dash. In addition he helped out in the eight-lap and 16-lap relays, which both got first place.

Another top performer in the meet was Northwest's high-jumper, Stan Carlson, who cleared the bar at six-feet, four and a half inches.

Other winners for the NWMSC harriers were Normal Howlet, broad jump; Kent Kavanaugh, the mile run; Phil Frahm, four-lap dash; Larry Parman, 40-yard high hurdles; Lou Garrett, 880-yard run; Bob Graves, 40-yard low hurdles, and Roger Stucki, two-mile run.

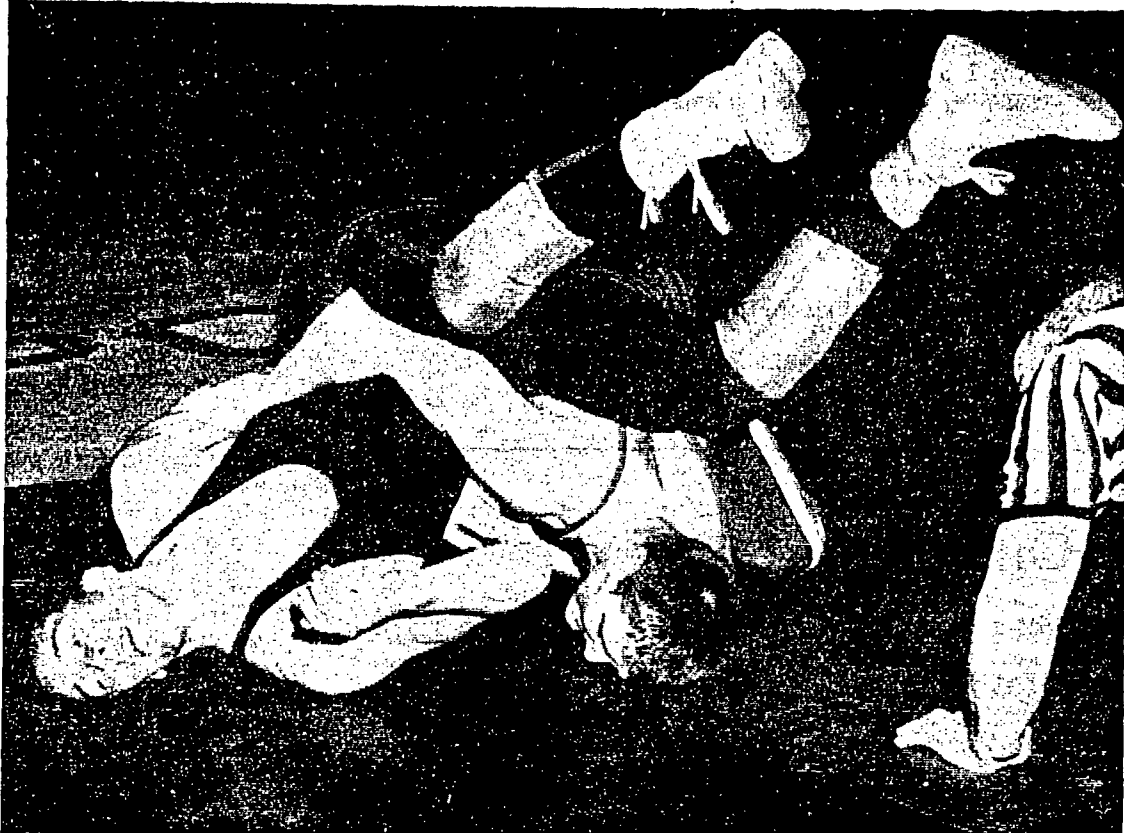

The Bearcats will travel to Columbia Mar. 18 for the MIAA Indoor Track Meet.

Outdoor Season Near for Hurlers

Marty Schwarz and Bob Graves, two of track coach Earl Baker's top hurdle prospects, prepare for the outdoor season by gliding over lanes of hurdles on the indoor track.

7 Win in Finals; James Ranks First

By Carl Voss

What a showing!

Seven Bearcats went into the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association Wrestling Tournament finals Saturday, and all seven earned laurels in their weight classes. Kirksville's 71 points was a distant 24 points from NWMSC's pace.

Even accomplishments in the finals were phenomenal. Captain Ron James, 152, copied his second MIAA Outstanding Wrestler Award by pinning in 1:30 and 3:55 in early matches before overwhelming Nunez, NE, in the finals 16-0.

Paul Stehman, 137, and Al Borkowski, 191, displayed superior techniques with pins in the final round. Stehman, after pinning in 1:41 and walking over another opponent 12-0 in earlier rounds, recorded a fall in 6:30. Borkowski advanced to the finals with a 9-0 win and then pinned his opponent in 6:10.

The third time was a charm for freshman Corky Crandall, 115, as he finally put down Curd Alexander, NE. Alexander had defeated Crandall, who won 4-0 earlier Saturday, twice in previous meetings. Stan Zeamer, freshman 130-pounder, earned a ticket to the finals with 10-0 and 5-4 wins, then smashed Jacobs, SW, 4-0.

Bill Rex, 145, bottled up a first-place medal with a victory over conference champ Bill Graham, 5-3. Rex and Graham had split wins in two previous meetings. Rex won his other match 6-2.

Rich Downing, 160, upset top-seeded Curtis Hines, NE, 5-0 in a semi-finals overtime match to earn a berth in the finals. Downing won his match in the finals 1-1.

Terry Hartley, 123; Tom Paulsen, 167; and Doug Minnick, heavyweight, earned fourth place points. Dale Palmer, 177, was narrowly denied a chance to compete in the finals but earned four third-place points.

After the victory, the Bearcat grapplers carried head coach Jerry Landwer and the two feet tall trophy on a jaunt around the mat. The elated coach called the stunning triumph the "greatest thrill in my life."

James, 25-2 this season, established several records this season. He has the most points in a season, his 109 counters breaking his record of 82; the most points in a season, 290 compared with the old mark of 229 held by Allan Packer; 16 pins in a season, six over the record he and Packer held, and 36 pins in a season, a new record which breaks Packer's mark of 29 pins.

Wrestlers who are now competing in the NCAA College Division Finals at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and their season records are Stehman, 13-4-1; Rex, 19-5-1; James, 26-2; Downing, 15-7, and Borkowski, 18-5.

Professor Comments On Defense of Rights

The Editors

March 3, 1967

Northwest Missourian
Dear Sirs:

In relation to the articles relative to Religious Emphasis Week in the Northwest Missourian of today, I feel called to register a protest against the assumptions of Miss Beek's argument. In essence, she is stating that it is one of the duties of the college, in accord with its purpose of acquainting the students with their entire cultural and intellectual heritage, to foster study "about" religion, and that Religious Emphasis Week is one way of accomplishing this.

Now I can hardly protest against teaching the students "about" religion, considering how I spend the majority of my time in Humanities II. However, I do contend that this is not what Religious Emphasis Week does. It is a form of scarcely disguised revivalism for some form of homogenized, non-denominational, middle-of-the-road Christianity. Having lecturers in to discuss various aspects of religion might still fall within the limits of the acceptable, but the program of the all-school assembly last year, for which classes were dismissed, included all present singing "The Church's One Foundation Is Jesus Christ Her Lord," which can only be regarded as a violation of the consciences of any Moslem, Jewish, or Unitarian students present, who either had to go along or make a spectacle of themselves by publicly remaining seated or walking out. Also, the "Devotions" which are held in the various dormitories can scarcely be classified as "about" religion.

Even worse than this, I think, is the atmosphere that tends to surround Religious Emphasis Week on this campus. There is great reluctance among those who oppose it to speak their minds because of fear of some sort of to speak quite bluntly — administrative retaliation. A violation of freedom of conscience does not exist only when it affects your conscience. It exists when that of any person is offended, and if one does not speak out then, one's own conscience is likely to come next, with no one left to defend its rights.

Sincerely yours,
Virginia DeMarce, Asst. Prof.

Students Answer Sorority Supporter

Editor's note: This panel of three students is speaking in reference to an editorial carried in the Missourian last week in which Valerie Watkins used the individualism of the sorority member as her theme.

"Greek individualist!"

How? According to a recent editorial, "sorority life is not designed to be a limiting, constructing society."

We would point out that it only seems to turn out that way. Just as Linus needs his security blanket, we believe these people must have the security of a group to feel that they belong, no matter what they pretend to the world.

"It is a social society where personal incentive is encouraged"; only, we question what kind. If membership means being a part of a group "that is bound together by certain ideals, beliefs, and goals," then how can the members possibly be individualistic?

It has been maintained that sorority life educates its members in aspects of life vital to adulthood. We would question if "teddy-bear" dependency is a prerequisite for adulthood.

What is it like to have 59 sisters? No one knows. It has been said that every tear is multiplied by 59. Can one imagine Roberta Hall being washed away by a sea of sorrowful sorority tears?

True that a sorority is good for those who wish to embrace it, and it does provide a tight, well-formed and sometimes useful organization to the campus, but we maintain that this is not true individualism, only group identification.

Student Forum

Dear Editors:

Student and administrative views on religion seem to differ greatly. While the latter promotes such activities as Religious Emphasis Week, the students exhibit disinterest, even boredom, toward the religious experiences forced upon them.

Religious events provided on campus elicit little response. Attendance at devotions in the girls' dorms might reach 10 per cent, a percentage which includes a hard core of speech drama, and music majors plus the group whose turn it is to conduct devotions. Dismissal of classes for the general assembly last Monday resulted in a general exodus to the dining not the Administration Building.

It appears that the Administration needs to look again at its policy of providing an annual Religious Emphasis Week. Why pretend it accomplishes its ends when it is apparent that those who attend are roll-taking teachers or role-playing students?

Sincerely,
A Senior Coed

Editors Reply to Letters

The editors of the Northwest Missourian are glad to receive and print letters to-the-editor from faculty members and students.

We remind our readers, however, that the opinions expressed in letters are ideas proposed by the writers, not necessarily those of the staff, its adviser, or NWMSC administrators.

Is the Time Right?

Although I realize the intended purpose of Religious Emphasis Week and do not object to its being sponsored on this campus, I question if the lectures are reaching and benefitting enough students to justify the amount of time and money spent on the program.

The majority of students are aware of the fact that the special assemblies are being held. However, they do not make a special effort to attend because they are not interested in attending "church" in the middle of the day. Just as significant is the fact that the assemblies are held at times when many students have classes or other obligations that cannot be missed. Furthermore, students do not seem to be motivated enough to alter their daily routine in order to make time for a program during the day.

Perhaps more students could take advantage of the lectures if the assemblies were scheduled for late afternoon or evening, rather than during classes. Perhaps, too, the programs would be better attended if they were presented as a lecture series, rather than as services.
